

JOHN RAILING MAGICIAN

RENAISSANCE MAN OF MAGIC

John Railing may be the last “Renaissance Man” in America. He’s a former attorney, options trader, bibliophile and expert on movable advertising inserts and pop-up books. Mr. Railing has, throughout his life, maintained his teenage interest in magic to become one of the leading corporate magicians in the country.

John Railing captivates guests at the Automotive Parts Association event.

MAGIC FOR THE EXECUTIVE’S “A-LIST”

Based in Chicago, he performs regularly for an impressive roster of celebrities, entertainers, leading corporate executives and dignitaries. He was flown to London to entertain at Sir Georg Solti’s 75th birthday; he is a fixture at many private parties for Sara Lee CEO, John Bryan; and he was sent to Kenya by PepsiCo to accompany their best customers on safari. Former President Gerald Ford called on John Railing time and time again to entertain guests at his homes in Beaver Creek and Palm Springs.

John has also appeared in the home of Former Secretary of State, Colin Powell and the Senior Minister of Singapore where Dr. Henry Kissinger was in attendance and witnessed John’s sophisticated prestidigitation. Last year, Texas billionaire Ross Perot flew John to Bermuda where he performed magic at Mr. Perot’s 80th birthday celebration.

SLEIGHT OF HAND ARTISTE

John’s specialty is sleight-of-hand magic, performed under your nose and right before your very eyes. Give him a penny, he’ll make it grow as big as your palm. Better yet, give him a dollar bill and he’ll transform it into a hundred. Pick a card — in a flash it’ll appear in his wallet. Pick a word out of a book, and he’ll magically guess it — every single time!

If you’re looking for a refined entertainer for a sophisticated evening of spontaneous entertainment, magician John Railing is the man who will make it an evening to remember.
