

ANDY HEAD WONDERFULLY WACKY JUGGLER

DEFYING GRAVITY AND OTHER LAWS OF NATURE

If you think juggling the time schedules and tasks of the average corporate executive is a challenge, you'll decide life isn't so hard when you see what Juggler Andy Head has to deal with on a daily basis. His briefcase isn't filled with manila folders and a PDA. Bouncing balls, bowling pins, rubber chickens and even a ballerina tutu all are part of the act he performs nationwide at corporate banquets, conventions and annual meetings.

Juggler Andy Head's "Theatrix" make audiences laugh and gasp as he amazes them with his skill and situation comedy.

Objects Airborne: Andy Head balances a unicycle on his chin while tossing rings up to the ceiling.

EXPERIENCE

Andy Head has been delighting audiences for over 21 years. Career highlights include an appearance on The Late Show with David Letterman, winning The International Juggler's Association Champion twice, and receiving the IJA "Founders Award" (The Juggler who best reflects the spirit of Vaudeville entertainment). As a performing artist, Andy has traveled to Europe and Asia and currently appears at corporate meetings, trade shows and over 100 family-friendly shows annually throughout the U.S. and Canada.

THEATRICKS

Andy's show is all about laughter. It's a hilarious high-energy performance packed with juggling, comedy, balancing, audience participation and lots of surprises - a blend of silliness and super skill that can't be beat. Your group will be smiling and laughing until their cheeks hurt when Andy Head juggles his way into your heart.

Even an audience member gets into the act when Andy Head entertains at a corporate event.